

© Benjamin Drummond / LightHawk

© Benjamin Drummond / LightHawk

*Figures 1 and 2. Aerial views of Barnum Point.
RCO ALEA Project No. 10-1438 – Barnum Point Acquisition – Phase I*

© Benjamin Drummond / LightHawk

Figure 3. The eastern shore of Barnum Point. Note exceptional feeder bluff in foreground, tidelands with fine sediment suitable for forage fish spawning, and the residential development threat immediately north on Iverson Spit.

© Anthony Gibbons

Figure 4. Tidelands include a variety of sediment sizes, including cobbles, gravel and sand.

*Figures 5-7. Feeder bluffs at Barnum Point.
RCO ALEA Project No. 10-1438 – Barnum Point Acquisition – Phase I*

Figures 8 and 9. Upland forests include marine riparian forest habitat and are largely second and third growth stands ranging from 50-80 years old.

RCO ALEA Project No. 10-1438 – Barnum Point Acquisition – Phase I